Mark Your Calendar: Singapore to Host World Human Resource Congress in May

WHRC 2024 Provides Opportunity for HR Professionals to Shape the Future of the Workplace and Workforce

January 31, 2024

The highly anticipated World Human Resource Congress (WHRC 2024) will be held in Singapore from May 14 to 16, 2024, offering an immersive experience for human resource (HR) professionals, thought leaders and visionaries from across the globe. Designed to provoke innovative ideas, WHRC 2024 will offer a dynamic range of speakers and sessions to address the future of the workplace and workforce.

The World Congress enables HR professionals to build a global community of peers, to discuss new developments in HR management and to network with colleagues from around the world who face similar complex challenges. HR professionals can learn more and register at whrc2024.com.

“I am extremely excited to be holding WHRC 2024 in Singapore — a city renowned for its innovative spirit and melting pot of cultures and ideas,” said Anthony Ariganello, President of WFPMA. “This Congress will set the stage for worldwide collaboration and the sharing of cutting-edge strategies that will propel the HR industry forward.”

Attendees will hear directly from industry leaders, make key networking connections and build new skills at WHRC 2024. The Congress is an unparalleled opportunity to network with thought leaders and like-minded professionals from around the world to unlock global perspectives on trends shaping the future of work, workers and the workplace. Don’t miss out on the chance to be part of this transformative experience.

Join us at WHRC 2024 to help lead the way into the future of HR. Speaker and sessions will be added and announced in coming months.
